WorkLife HRSM Spreads Holiday Cheer to Families

TROY, MI – December 23, 2009 – The employees at WorkLife HRSM helped raise nearly $4,000 for their Holiday Families Fund; the money raised allowed them to purchase gifts for thirty-three children and adults. Throughout the year, employees help raise money by participating in “Jean Days,” bake and craft sales, potluck lunches, and various other events. WorkLife HR, a professional employer organization, provides financial and administrative solutions to the workplace including payroll administration, human resource management, employment law compliance and benefits services.

Employees volunteered their time to shop, wrap and deliver gifts. The gifts included items that each child or adult had written on a “Wish List,” such as toys, and clothing. Along with clothing, coats, boots, and toys, families received sheets, bath towels, wash cloths, cleaning supplies and other everyday essentials. “Raising money throughout the year allows our employees to embrace the true spirit of the holiday season, which is that of giving, year round. It’s extremely gratifying to see the whole WorkLife HR family pitch in to make the holidays brighter for these children and families that need a helping hand right now,” said Steve Groulx, Chief Executive Officer.
